

Go Green with Your Smart Future

GREEN CITY

We will imagine and design smart and climate/carbon neutral transportation systems in cities, simulate present applications or vehicles that can be useful against the negative effects of climate change and global warming caused by a key factor "air pollution"; plus we will draw people's attention to the importance of using public transportation and encourage them to use public transportation or clean-energy transportation types.